Management Report of Fund Performance (June 30, 2023)

Results of Operations

For the period ended June 30, 2023, the Fund had total returns of 14.5% (Series A), 15.4% (Series I), 15.0% (Series F), and 14.7% (Series D).

Global equities advanced over the 6-month period as the MSCI World Index (C$) returned 12.6%. Despite tight monetary conditions economic data proved resilient. Better than expected economic data and signs of moderating inflation reduced the market's fears over a possible recession, which supported equity markets.

Inflation remained the dominant economic issue over the period. Many central banks continued to tighten monetary policy by raising interest rates or tapering their asset purchase programs to curb inflation. This has marked a deceleration in the CPI for most major economies; a major contributor was also the decline in oil prices from $80 U.S. dollars to around $71 U.S. dollars a barrel. Central banks continue to face the delicate task of balancing the need for economic stimulus with the risk of elevated prices. Nonetheless, the U.S. Federal Reserve (Fed), the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Bank of England (BoE) have not reached their target inflation rate of 2%, all three major central banks have hinted it is not done raising interest rates.

With the battle against inflation showing signs of success and consumption and labour data proving resilient, the odds placed on a soft landing scenario have improved. This combined with a rally in technology shares, in part driven by enthusiasm over AI, helped support investor sentiment.

The majority of the Fund's regional allocations were to the U.S., Europe and Japan. U.S. equities represented the largest allocation, more than half the portfolio by market value, on average. The largest positive contributor to return was U.S. equities, followed by European equities. Currency exposure had a moderate negative impact on return, with the US dollar and Japanese yen detracting from a currency perspective.

Nine of the eleven MSCI World Index (C$) GICS (Global Industry Classification Standard) sectors posted positive returns over the six-month period. The best performing sectors were Information Technology, Consumer Discretionary and Communication Services which happened to be the three worst performing sectors last year. The sharp improvement in sentiment around growth areas of the market benefited these positions, which rebounded after being weak last year. The worst performing sectors were Energy, Real Estate and Utilities. Energy prices fell weighing on that sector while Real Estate continues to struggle with structural changes in that market related to work from home, as well as higher interest rates.

The Fund's active multi-manager structure combines complementary investment approaches. There are no major changes in how the fund is managed, however the fund is actively managed and allocations shift with relative opportunities. Over the period, the weight to Communication Services and Health Care were modestly reduced while Consumer Staples and Industrials modestly increased. Regionally, there were similarly no major shifts, although the weight to Europe and Canada increased, while emerging markets was reduced.

As at June 30, 2023, the total net asset value of the Fund was $1.81 billion, an increase of 11% since the beginning of the year. The increase is due to net investment gain, partially offset by net redemptions.

The IRC may also approve certain mergers between the Fund and other funds and any change of the auditor of the Fund. Subject to any corporate and securities law requirements, no securityholder approval will be obtained in such circumstances, but you will be sent a written notice at least 60 days before the effective date of any such transaction or change of auditor. In certain circumstances, securityholder approval may be required to approve certain mergers.

The IRC prepares and files a report to the securityholders each fiscal year that describes the IRC and its activities for securityholders, as well as contains a complete list of the standing instructions. These standing instructions enable the Manager to act in a particular conflict of interest matter on a continuing basis provided the Manager complies with its policies and procedures established to address that conflict of interest matter and reports periodically to the IRC on the matter. ³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period.
